

Abstract

Provided are methods of generating electrocompetent bacterial cells, the methods involving the growth of the cells at hyperosmotic salt concentration. Also provided are methods of producing a transformed cell, methods of producing a recombinant polypeptide, and strains of 5 E. coli that exhibit increased electrotransformation efficiency.